

The Carson Daily Appeal

CARSON CITY:

Friday, November 21, 1873.

DRIPS.—This is the technical name of the fluid which passes by on Carson street see Dick Mills pumping from the Maxim Gas pipes skirting the sidewalk. It is the unconsumed gasoline which being unused, lying in its cold bed, becomes non-inflammable by combining with foreign elements from the atmosphere, and has to be pumped out to give place to gas generated afresh every day. If some fellow happens to drop a half burnt match into Dick's odoriferous can one of these evenings about twilight, the neighborhood will very probably be put to mourning. The stuff is unlike powder, which ignites by a flame, and you may throw your stamp into it, Dick willing, with impunity.

CONCERT AND DANCING HALL.—The Corbett Bros. have the hall above their new store, occupied by Mason & Chamberlin, nearly finished. It is to be used as a ball room, and may be had for concerts. It is just the thing we have been wanting here. The hall is 34 x 77—plenty large enough for any party, and not big enough to chill you with a vacuum when the crowd happens not to come. The floor is excellent for dancing. It is left to Burns, who takes possession on the 1st December, and will use it for a dancing school-room during the present season. From him it may be obtained, we presume, by merry makers in general. The Adelphi's are talking of it as the place where they will give their parties. When finished it will be provided with a hat apartment and dressing room, built on to the west wall, and with every other convenience and comfort.

GYMNASTIC.—The Olympics have been looking forward to their next monthly soiree, two weeks hence, as the occasion for a masquerade ball together with an exhibition of gymnastic feats. The young gentlemen have made fine progress, and a number of the club have become quite expert; but some of their best men have seemed to be letting up on exercise lately; so that it is not certain now, whether the exhibition will be given or not. They can make an elegant show and they are unwilling to run the risk of falling short of what they are capable of.

ROBEY.—We find the following report of the condition of our unlucky friend, Robey, in the Enterprise of yesterday: "Although the doctors have several times sharpened their knives and threatened to amputate H. L. Robey's left arm, in which he has had a severe attack of erysipelas, the limb is still intact and is now fast getting well. The disease extended to his head, and, indeed, to every part of his body, and only a powerful constitution saved his life. He still carries both his head and his arm in a sling."

The State University is finishing off with a Mansard roof. It will, probably, be opened to advanced students, and those not very far advanced, early next year. Those scholars who go beyond their classes in the upper departments of the public schools throughout the State and can not have the special attention of their teachers further on, may form a nucleus at Elko and be taught with great advantage, being a few, in the highest branches of a liberal education.

OMAHA LOTTERY.—The boys have branched out anew in their games for winnins. They have a lottery game, now, in hand. It is a cigar box with a hole in the top. The backing boy pays the keeper two marbles for a draw. He pulls out a folded slip of paper with a figure on it. If that figure is 0 he doesn't get any marbles. The dealer's percentage lies in the 0's, which abound. Hence the name that the boys on the outside give it—Omaha Lottery.

GREEN TURTLE SOUP.—Today, at Frisbie's, for the world! He has an ancient turtle in the pot with the barnacles of the deep blue sea on his back like coral reefs, which weigh eighty odd pounds. What your epicurean palate may crave after soup, you may order from his outside show window. If you should crave a hundred pound pumpkin by way of dessert, he has that for you too.

DISINTERMENT.—Jim Sackett was engaged, yesterday, disintering the remains of the late Charley Curry and three children that have been sleeping near by him within the same enclosure for some years past. Those remains are to be removed and reburied where the body of Col. Abe Curry was lately put to rest, in order that the family of the dead may all still continue side by side.

The Mint continues working in full force all day and great way into the night. One never sees the black smoke from that huge chimney communicating with Hades down below subside any more. It mingles with the thickening twilight and keeps a going.

MEINHEER FOX is down below, where he will remain yet two weeks purchasing every thing in general and holiday goods in particular. He will have the largest stock for Christmas, of things in his miscellaneous line, that ever was exhibited in Carson.

GROWTH OF THE TOWN.—Houses, comfortable and roomy ones, are springing here and there on every eligible vacant lot in Carson. They are eagerly called for. Those, however, who do not bargain with the constructors before the building is begun are too late to get a house. Many are residing in hotels in Carson, now, who are constantly on the qui vive for a house to let. A fine chance is open to those who have the capital to build cottages for rent. People are coming in daily, and they do not come any more with migratory notions. They come to stay. They are coming in families, and they want their own dwellings. This speaks well for Carson, especially, since we have such well kept boarding places.

MACADAM.—The construction of the turnpike from the Warm Springs towards town is progressing. Big stones, on middle sized stones, pebbles on middle sized stones, and rock dust on the pebbles. It is going to make a fine drive. Trees will, cottonwood, be set out on either side of the road near Spring Meadows. Bradley and Johnson are going to make a thing of beauty as well as of profit out of their fine property.

WE are quite proud to say that the citizens of Carson made so handsome a response to the appeals made in behalf of Mr. James A. Logan—the man whose eyes were destroyed and whose arm was blown off by a discharge of powder in an Eastern mining camp, as to increase his scanty purse to the tune of $233 in coin. A friend of his desires us to make a formal tender of Mr. Logan's thanks for the timely liberality thus bestowed upon him.

LIBERAL.—A couple of fair persuasive ladies visited the Brunswick Mill several days ago on a mission of selling tickets to the Catholic Party on the 27th inst. They were entertained at the Elstner Mansion in the spirit of noble hospitality, which characterizes equally its host and hostess; and, aided in their object by Col. Elstner, the ladies sold $75 of tickets at the Brunswick alone, not having time to go further that day.

TEA VERILY does truth take on the garb of fiction at odd times. A party of travelers through town, yesterday, stopped at Frisbie's restaurant and with blanket coats turned up at the collar they hugged the stove; and what did they ask for to warm themselves with, think you? Red pepper tea! No. They called for ice cream. There was not any in the house, but the old man offered to freeze some for 'em.

GREENER GUNS.—In addition to the attractive stock of other things with which Rail's store is piled up, he has on hand also, some of the prettiest, trust guns ever brought to this market for sale. It does a genuine hunter good to put one of his Greener's to the shoulder and run his eye over the barrels. Call and handle the articles. It will do you good and won't cost you a cent.

THE CORBETT HOUSE, kept in first class style and crowded always with guests, has lately had six elegant sleeping apartments added to its already almost labyrinth of rooms. There is an air of life and comfort about that house which is taking. The table overflows with generous food. The bar is well supplied with good liquors. It is, in all respects, a first class hotel.

THE ADELPHI CLUB met Tuesday evening, pursuant to notice; but a few of the members only being in attendance. They adjourned to meet again next Tuesday. Several applicants for membership were admitted. When these gentlemen do get under way, we may look for a series of the most pleasant and elegant soirees.

THE ORMSBY HOUSE billiard room presents an exceedingly cheery and inviting aspect in the evening. It is so pleasant to go there now, owing to the excellent arrangements lately made that some who had almost given up billiard practice have been induced to come out again. There is no place in town where one can pass an hour, in the evening, more agreeably.

JUDGE C. N. HARRIS moved his family to town, yesterday, and, occupying his new dwelling lately constructed according to his own architectural idea, is now one of us, de facto as well as de jure.

THE CATHOLIC BALL.—Lest there may be any mistake as to the party—many believing it to be the same as a Festival—it is well to know that the only expense to be incurred by those who may wish to attend, will be the price of the ticket, which is, as published, $5, supper included.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

The New York Board of Aldermen have very considerably voted $2,000,000 for the payment of extra laborers on the Public Works and Parks of that city. This is to make work to men made idle by the panic.

Sharkey, confined in the Tombs on a charge of murder got away in a woman's dress, and has not since been found.

Of the six passengers arrested on the steamer City of New York, at Havana, three were women, one a niece of Al-Jama. Extensive correspondence was found secreted about their clothing. By this correspondence many persons on the Island, heretofore unsuspected, were implicated, and as the Moro Castle left Havana they were being shot without mercy. It was estimated that about forty patriots, on various portions of the Island, had met this fate.

Chicago, November 20.—A Washington special to the Tribune says Sumner's letter on the Cuban question is interpreted in Administration circles as to indicate that he will make a fresh assault on the Administration in the next Congress.

San Francisco, Nov. 20.—J. F. Chamberlain, owner of True Blue, publishes a statement that Palmer, the rider of Joe Daniels, cut True Blue down and that True Blue could have distanced both Thad Stevens and Daniels in the third heat. He also says that previous to the race parties proposed to him to divide the purse and win the money in the pool box, which he declined to do. The statement has caused considerable feeling in sporting circles.

ONE MORE CHANGE.—It appears that Dan Mathew, sentenced to be hanged in Hamilton on the 19th of next month, has one more chance for his life. Judge Hawley, we understand, has written a letter to parties in Hamilton that if more facts can be furnished in Mathew's favor, the Board of Pardoners will reconsider its action. The indifference of the culprit, coupled with his seeming want of realization of the awful situation in which he is placed, has raised serious doubts in the minds of some concerning his sanity, and another move, we hear, is to be made on the ground that he is not of sound mind. It will thus be seen that there is still a show for the "mild-mannered" young man to save his neck. —Eureka Sentinel
